

Tracy K & Jamie Steinhoff Blues Duo
180 word bio

Drawing from the dawn of modern music in the Deep South, Tracy K and Jamie Steinhoff present pre war and rare vintage gems by the great Blues statesmen and women of Delta, Piedmont, Hill Country persuasions. Steamy blues, lively rags, hokum jazz sounds create back porch vibes from an era long since passed. Compared to Bonnie Raitt, Tracy K's beautiful voice and expertise on harmonica compliment Jamie's disciplined acoustic fingerstyle and resonator slide. As songwriters, their music reflects experience on the road and tales of love, lost and found.

They've shared stages with countless greats like John Sebastian, Ramblin' Jack Elliot, and loads of global talent during three tours to the International Blues Challenge, Memphis, Tennessee. Tracy K has accumulated nine music awards over her thirty year body of work for vocal, harmonica, songwriting and performance chops, including a Western Canadian Music Award Blues Artist of the Year nomination. Touring across international borders at large outdoor festivals, theatres, Home Routes Tours, and special events, they offer humour, wit and introspective shows keeping the blues alive one song at a time.
